

“My Goodbyes”

It's getting darker
The fall has barely started to come
But when I look out the window
I'm grateful for the sun

I've been in worse situations
Not trying to complain
It's not that I'm on my own

But lately my friends keep falling down
They're changing each time I look around
As they go I see fear in their eyes
I say my goodbyes
I say my goodbyes

I'm walking slower
With time catching up at my heels
But when I see it approaching
I remember how good life feels

I've watched so many generations
And no one is to blame
That I feel on my own

Cause lately my friends keep falling down
They're changing each time I look around
As they go I see fear in their eyes
I say my goodbyes
I say my goodbyes

Don't be sad for me there's been good years
I only wish they hadn't gone so fast
But as they fade I wonder how long will I last

When lately my friends keep falling down
They're changing each time I look around
As they go I see fear in their eyes
I say my goodbyes
I say my goodbyes
